THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE STATE CONSTITUTION.

The amendments proposed to the Constitution of North Carolina have been so often and so thoroughly discussed by the press of the State, that it would be a work of supererogation to write long editorials between now and the day of election, setting forth the reasons for their adoption and the relief they will afford to the people at large.

The election advertisement in the papers gives the alterations proposed to be made, and to that we direct the attention of our readers.

It might be well for our State contemporaries that do not publish the advertisement, to call attention to the Governor's proclamation relating to the election.

The alterations proposed are:
FIRST: That in relation to the public debt, which relieves the Legislature from the obligation to levy a tax for its prompt and regular payment, and strikes off that part of section sixth, article first, referring to the inviolability of said debt.

SECOND: The abolition of the office of Superintendent of Public Works.

THIRD: Striking out the requirement to take a census at the expense of the State in 1875, and every tenth year afterwards.

FOURTH: Allowing any personal property, not to exceed in value three hundred dollars, selected by the owner, to be exempt from taxation, in lieu of the articles specified in section sixth, article fifth of the Constitution.

FIFTH: Providing for the election of Trustees to the University by the Legislature, and giving to the Legislature the power of making all needful laws and regulations relating to the maintenance and management of the University.

SIXTH: Making the sessions of the Legislature biennial instead of annual.

SEVENTH: The abolition of the Code Commission.

EIGHTH: Forbidding State officers and members of the Legislature from holding any other office under the State or National Government, except officers in the militia, justices of the peace, commissioners of public charities, or commissioners for special purposes.

These amendments have been passed by the requisite Constitutional majorities in the Legislature, to-wit: two-thirds majority of the whole number of members in each House in 1870-71, and three-fifths of the Legislature of 1872-73. They only await the sanction of the people on the first Thursday in August, at the ballot box, to become a part of the organic law of the State.

EDUCATIONAL.

It will be a sad thing for the cause of education if the Educational Convention which assembles in Raleigh on the 9th and 10th proximo, should prove a failure.

The Committee of Arrangements have announced a programme for the occasion and given the topics which will be treated in the papers prepared by educators and others, but this will not prevent the discussion of other practicable questions equally as important as those mentioned.

Papers will be read during the two days' session of the Convention by Dr. Craven, Major Bingham, Prof. Simmons, Hon. A. S. Merriam, Mr. James H. Horner, Mr. Ridd, of the Raleigh Female Seminary, and John W. Norwood, Esq., of Orange.

The cause of education in this State needs awakening, and we trust that an influence will go out from the proposed Convention which will give it an impetus that will be felt throughout every county.

We must have a better system of public instruction in North Carolina. The present plan has proved almost an absolute failure. Other States have common schools in successful operation. Why is it that our State cannot profit by the example and experience of her sisters?

It is inexplicable to us. The startling fact remains—the cause of education is at a very low ebb, and there seems to be no well grounded hope that a rise in the tide will soon take place.

FARMERS' GRANGES.

Col. Aiken, of South Carolina, is meeting with much success in this State in the establishment of the Farmers' Granges.

He will canvass North Carolina until he puts in operation a sufficient number of associations to entitle the State to a State Grange.

The movement is popular and promises to be a formidable organization. It differs in many material respects from the Workingmen's Society, of which ex-Senator Pool is the head-centre.

The success of the farmers' association in the West, has alarmed the politicians of both the national political parties, and has struck terror into the hearts of the Railroad and other monopolists.

We sympathize with the objects of the Farmers' Granges, and are anxious to hear Col. Aiken's address, that we may learn officially the plans and work of the order.

The success of the Granges is a feature which will not be approved of by a large number of those who will endorse the general purposes and principles of the party.

THE MECKLENBURG DECLARATION.

Hon. Daniel R. Goodloe, of Warren-ton, has written an article for the Raleigh Sentinel to prove that the Mecklenburg Declaration was proclaimed on the 31st day of May 1775, instead of the 20th.

A gentleman writing from Staunton, Virginia, to one of our exchanges, claims that Augusta county, in that State, is the birth place of the first declaration of independence from the British crown, and that the Mecklenburg Declaration was several weeks later. The writer promises to furnish heretofore the historical documents to prove the assertion.

THE FIGHT IN THE RADICAL CAMP.

The Radical party is only held together by the "cohesive power of public plunder" and p'ace. When the intense loyalty among the Republicans loses position and influence, they become wonderfully independent and refuse to work in the traces.

The Republican papers, North and South, have been discussing the dubious attitude of Ex-Senator John Pool, who is at the head of the Workingmen's Association, and whose love for the Administration is said to be rapidly waning for various causes—the chief of which is because the Administration does not cherish a very fond affection for John Pool. Mr. Pool is called by some of his party journals "the soft handed son of toil," a name which will be apt to stick to him the balance of his natural life.

We take no part in this war among the Radicals, but copy the following from the Wilmington Post, Republican, to keep our readers advised of the strifes and dissensions in the camp of the enemy:

SENATOR POOL.—This gentleman seems to be the bright and shining star just now for the newspaper world to strike at, and his name appears in many of our exchanges in this State and elsewhere. We have expostulated with the New North State in relation to its opposition to Senator Pool, believing as we do that he is a staunch Republican, and a man of great ability. Were it not so, there would be less animosity shown by the Democratic portion of the press now assailing him. We agree with our contemporary when it says, "We cannot consent to keep quiet, if the occasion calls for it, concerning the deceit, treachery and duplicity of any man, however elevated may have been his position in the party." No reasonable man can find fault with this sentiment, but we do not think Senator Pool has been deceitful, treacherous, or acted with duplicity, and we believe it to be our duty to defend him. Under similar circumstances we should defend Judge Settle, for whom we have a high regard. We feel that the New North State is trying to build up another, and we are not in favor of that sort of a procedure.

The National Republican again comes to the assistance of our contemporary, and also replies to us. He says: "We have unintentionally awakened the ire of an old friend, in the person of Major J. C. Mann, editor of the Wilmington (N. C.) Post, of whom the Raleigh News (Democratic) speaks in the kindest terms."

[Here follows the article from the News, heretofore published.]
"A man now affording being instrumental in provoking this extraordinary complaint from a political opponent, the Major is ungrateful enough to say that the Washington Republican, which the Raleigh News will persist in calling the Administration mouthpiece, has again opened its batteries on Senator Pool. All this time, however, it has never denied the first charge we made as to the animus of its articles against him."

Were it not for our belief that Major Mann is an honest man, who is unfortunately in bad company, we should reply that the spirit of Annas has descended upon him, because we have repeatedly explained that our allusions to Mr. Pool have been prompted by the purest motives. It is true that he voted against the bill in Congress to give the printing of the debates to the proprietor of the Republican; but, as we have heretofore stated, he did so because we had refused to support his extravagant and imprudent demand for a Cabinet position. His ambition led him to seek the place now so fully filled by Postmaster General Cresswell, and it was intimated that he would willingly accept Mr. Delano's place. We refused to support him because of his failure as a politician in North Carolina, and of his total lack of executive ability, as evidenced by his management of last summer's campaign.

Besides this, it is not within our desire to demand for him to seek the place of President re-elected, or to advise the President regarding appointments of any kind, and if it was, we should instantly declare that the existing Cabinet is composed of gentlemen whose success in the past attests them to our respect and confidence.

From this explanation it is evident that Mr. Pool began a war upon us. Will the Post do us the justice to reprint it? And will add that, to use the language of the New North State, a Republican paper printed at Greensboro, and N. C., our "structures of Mr. Pool have been in the interest of the laboring classes of the land, to shield them from the desecration of unscrupulous demagogues and have not been dictated by petty personal spite, as some persons have taken the pains to assert."

In this connection we deem it proper to state that our strictures on the Republican are based upon its course, and not upon some of its writers, whom we know personally. There is one for whom we have a high personal regard. In the ante-bellum days we passed many a long night over the proof desk and midnight dispatches, and we know him to be a true Republican, and a man of ability. But this has no connection with the selfish course displayed by that paper.

We consider its attacks upon Senator Pool unjust and unwarranted, and being "an honest man," we feel it our duty to reply to them. We have been accused of many things during our newspaper life, but never of an air, we believe. We therefore publish the remarks of the writer on the Republican in full, as he requests.

A PROCLAMATION

BY THE
Governor of North Carolina.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, June 18, 1873.

Be it known to all whom it may concern: That in conformity with section 5, chapter 153 of the acts of the General Assembly passed at the session of 1872-73, in relation to amendments of the Constitution of the State:

I, T. R. CALDWELL, Governor of the State of North Carolina, do hereby forth the alterations proposed and agreed to, and the second section of said act to be published for thirty days preceding the first Thursday of August, 1873, in the Raleigh Daily News, published in Raleigh, and also for the same length of time in the following weekly papers, published in the various Congressional Districts of the State to-wit: First District—"Express," Washington, both City and "Express," Washington, Second District—"News," Goldsboro; Third District—"Statesman," Fayetteville; Fourth District—"North State," Greensboro; "Chronicle," Milton; Sixth District—"Democrat," Charlotte; "Spirit of the South," Rockingham; Seventh District—"American," Statesville; "Watchman," Salisbury; Eighth District—"Pioneer," and "Expositor," Asheville.

That portion of the preamble ordered to be published is in the following words, to-wit: "Whereas, the last General Assembly, (three-fifths of the whole number of members of each House concurring), the bill containing the amendments proposed, has been passed by the House, and the following alterations of the Constitution of the State, to-wit: To establish a First-class Wholesale Dry Goods House in this city, and with ample means, increased experience and a determination to give satisfaction, we feel sure we shall in the future, as in the past, deserve the confidence of our friends and the trade generally."

And whereas, the last General Assembly, (three-fifths of the whole number of members of each House concurring), the bill containing the amendments proposed, has been passed by the House, and the following alterations of the Constitution of the State, to-wit: To establish a First-class Wholesale Dry Goods House in this city, and with ample means, increased experience and a determination to give satisfaction, we feel sure we shall in the future, as in the past, deserve the confidence of our friends and the trade generally."

Crooked and dwarfed the true must stay,
Nor lift its green head to the day,
Till useless growths are lopped away.
And thus doth human nature do,
Till it hath careful pruning, too.
It cannot grow up straight and true,
For, but for the pruning shears,
No soul could ever tell how near
God comes to whom he loves, here.

They only knew who wait in fear
The music of a nightingale,
Falling upon the listening ear,
And life's great depths are soonest stirred
In him who hears the solemn heard
The magic of a loving word.

By him the deepest rest is won,
Whom, beneath the howling sun,
Faithful to his work is done.

And waters through the weary night
Have learned how pleasantly the light
Of morning breaks upon the sign,
Perchance the jewels seem most fair
To him whose patient toil and care
Has brought it to the upper air.

And other lips can never taste
A draught like that he flows in, last
Who seeks it in the burning waste.

And after life has come to hide
Our lambs upon the other side,
We know our shepherd and our guide,
And thus by ways not understood,
Out of each dark wilderness,
God brings us compensating good,
For faith is perfected by fears,
And souls renew their youth with years
And love looks into heaven through tears.

THE LAST SLAVE SALE IN NEW JERSEY.—The West Jersey Press has this bit of local history with reference to Gloucester county:

"A few days ago we listened to the recital of the circumstances attending probably the last sale of slaves that took place in Gloucester county, nearly sixty years ago. A free colored man became enamored of a colored girl, a slave, belonging to a family in that county, and desired to marry her, but as the law would not permit the marriage, he determined to buy her. He applied to the owner, who agreed to sell her to him for half a crown. The money was never paid, however, but this fact was not developed until years after, when, by an accident which befell a daughter by this marriage, she became a charge upon the county. This took place within a few months after the death of the owner of the girl's mother, and the executor of the estate sought counsel in the premises, and were told, in advertising the personal effects of the deceased, to conclude it with these words: 'To gether with all the personal property of said deceased.' This was done, and at the sale which took place in the 1815, the father of the girl bought his wife and four children for forty cents. The descendants of this family are now living in Salem county.

A WILL ON A SLATE.—The West Chester (Penn.) Local News says: "This morning we were shown a will written upon a slate, which circumstance is probably the first and only case of the kind in the country. The instrument of bequest bears date May 9, 1863, and is the will of Phoebe Ann Woodward, late of Kennet Square. The slate is a new one, and upon the frame are the initials 'P. A. W.' in ink, they being the initials of the deceased's name. This curious and novel writing was found by her friends, after her decease, a few weeks since, in a chest under lock and key, and safely enclosed in a paste-board box. Register Evans has decided to admit it to probate, after which it is supposed its legality will be tested in the Register's Court. John J. Pinkerton is the counsel for the will, and by whom the rather eccentric writing was shown us. Mr. P. states that this will be the first 'slate will' to be found on any records of which knowledge is now to be gained. Upon its receipt in the Register's office it will be provided with a wooden box, in which it will be filed for keeping under lock and key."

SIMMONS' LIVER

REGULATOR

This unrivaled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, but is PURELY VEGETABLE.

FOR FORTY YEARS it has proved its great value in all diseases of the Liver, Bowels and Kidneys. Thousands of the good and great in all parts of the country vouch for its wonderful and peculiar power in purifying the blood, stimulating the torpid Liver and Bowels, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is acknowledged to have no equal as a

LIVER MEDICINE.

It contains four medical elements, never united in the same happy proportion in any other preparation, viz: a gentle Cathartic, a powerful Tonic, a powerful Stimulant, and a powerful Diuretic.

A wonderful Tonic, an unexceptionable Alternative and a certain Corrective of all impurities of the body. Such signal success has attended its use, that it is now regarded as the

Great Unfailing Specific

for Liver Complaints and the painful disorders thereof, to wit: DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, Jaundice, Bilious attacks, SICK HEADACHE, Colic, Depression of Spirits, SORE THROAT, Heart Burn, &c., &c.
